

New Book – Just in time for your Mother's Day Display

I Am Mom: Poetry in the raw or perhaps just random thoughts of an overtired mom about the condition of motherhood.

Cathy Sue Carpenter

I Am Mom, is a collection of poems written on the journey of motherhood. It offers a refreshing new perspective in her mostly on an iPhone, typed with only a thumb, while nursing, then edited during naptime and babysitter time. It's peppered with unique photo sketches that compliment each poem, it's truly a work of art and honest expression of motherhood. "It's not your typical, flowery written word about motherhood. I write about sleep deprivation, frustration, angst, monotony, exhaustion as well as those wonderful moments that cut through all the rough stuff and demonstrate the amazingness of it all. Honestly, I don't know if it's poetry or the scrambled, random thoughts of an overtired mom. Either way, it's a book for moms by a mom and I think they will enjoy and identify with it", Cathy Sue Carpenter.

Cathy Sue Carpenter is a mom, author, businesswoman and community volunteer. When she's not hosting a stuffed animal tea party with her daughter, helping out at her son's grammar school, being a geeked out marketing consultant working on client projects big and small, talking about all things mom related on her blog MOMtricity, she's writing and sometimes she actually sleeps too. She has more books and ideas in the works. Cathy Sue resides in a sleepy suburb of Chicago with her husband Michael, son Zachary, daughter Genevieve, cat and fish.
